A 0.5% tax fee will be applied, which will be allocated to a treasury. This treasury will be utilized for adding liquidity or serving as an additional funding source for profit sharing.

1.5% Marketing

A 1.5% tax fee will be applied, which will serve as a funding source for Nexan's marketing endeavors as well as for the development of business relationships and partnerships.

2% Development & Research

We will implement a 2% tax fee, which will be utilized as a funding source for the development of Nexan's products, the maintenance of Nexan's infrastructure, and all matters related to technical aspects.

Nexan's Supply Distribution

Below are the details on how Nexan's supply will be distributed

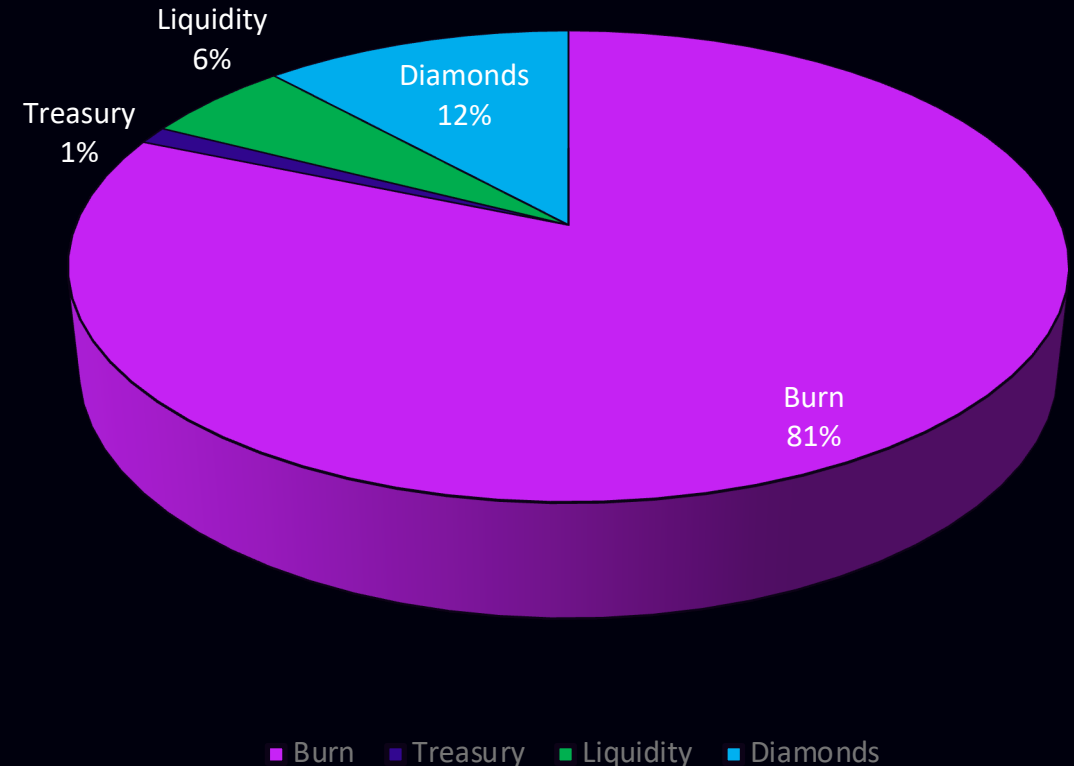

Treasury

A portion of the supply is allocated for forging strategic partnerships and collaborations. These alliances are crucial for expanding our ecosystem's reach and integrating with complementary technologies.

Diamonds

This supply is allocated for those who supported the project before the presale stage. It will be distributed amongst old holders

The strategic allocation of Nexan's token supply plays a pivotal role in underpinning the project's sustainability and fostering equitable growth within our ecosystem.

Profit Sharing

The benefits we aim to provide to our holders

To express our deep appreciation for the steadfast support of Nexan holders, we've committed to not just acknowledging their faith in us but tangibly rewarding it. We understand that the backbone of our project's success lies in the trust and loyalty of those who hold our tokens.

Hence, we've devised a comprehensive profit-sharing initiative aimed at Nexan token holders. This strategy is more than a gesture of thanks; it's a testament to our belief in a mutually beneficial relationship where every token holder's support is recognized and rewarded.

Our profit-sharing source will derive not only from the profits generated by all of our products but also from the combined treasury taxes accumulated.

How does Nexan's profit sharing works ?

We are committed to distributing 20% of the total profits from our products directly to `Nexanians`. This distribution process will be facilitated through a self-claim system. We will set up a profit-sharing pool, which will be deployed few days before the profit-sharing date.

Users will then be required to lock their supply in this pool until the profit distribution occurs. The share of profits each user receives will be determined by the proportion of their locked supply in the pool relative to the total supply locked by all users.

Users are allowed to accumulate their locked supply in the pool until one day before the profit distribution date. In other words, users will not be able to increase their locked supply on the day the profits are distributed.
